Notes

- We are not responsible for the final product. If there is an issue with quality, delivery, giftcard printing, logo issue, or anything else, we do not have the ability to control it.
- If the address provided is incorrect, we will do our best to contact the sender for the correction, however, if we are unable to change it, you are still responsible for the cost.
- We prefer to work with vendors that ship nationwide, however, we can make special arrangements for local favorites.
- Gift messages are available for all of our sends that are either printed or handwritten from our vendors. Each vendor has a selected character count. This message will be included inside the box delivered to your recipient's address.
